DETAILED ACTION

1. The proposed red-line drawing amendments filed 1-7-04 are approved by the examiner and the prior objections to the drawings are withdrawn. Applicant is required to submit formal drawings including these proposed changes before issue if the application is ultimately allowed.

2. Claims 14-15 and 24-26 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Re claim 14, lines 7 and 8 as newly amended are somewhat confusing. As best understood, "member ends" on line 7 and "has ends which" on line 8 should be replaced with —member has ends which—and —ends—respectively to correct the claim in this regard.

Re claim 24, lines 7-9 as newly amended are generally awkward and confusing. As best understood, "the elastomeric jackets defining vertical profiles" in line 7 should be replaced with —each elastomeric jacket defining vertical profiles on—to correct the claim in this regard.

Re claim 26, "the elongate member" at the end of the claim lacks clear antecedent basis and should apparently be —one of said elongate members--.

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

Art Unit: 3612

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

4. Claims 1-2, 5-6, 11-13, and 23 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Robertson.

Robertson teaches a retaining apparatus for elongate objects including a frame base 2, side members (i.e. the outermost two bolts 6), a rigid cross-bar packing member 1, a deformable portion (resilient rubber member 4), and means for retaining (at least the centermost bolt 6) as broadly claimed.

Re claim 1 as newly amended, element 4 defines an elastomeric jacket as broadly claimed. Additionally, in as much as element 4 wraps around at least the bottom flanges of the I-beam shape of element 1 (see figure 1), it is deemed to "surround" the element 1 cross-bar as broadly claimed.

Re claims 11 and 13, Robertson is configured as broadly claimed.

Re claim 23, the vertical portions of jacket 4 on the sides of the lower I-beam flanges of element 1 would function as broadly claimed.

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

6. Claims 7-9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Robertson.

Art Unit: 3612

Robertson teaches all of the claimed features as discussed above regarding claim 1 but fails to specifically teach a second frame as defined.

Robertson is designed to be a support for a conduit. If it were desired to use the Robertson device with an application with a relatively long conduit, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to utilize multiple spaced ones of the Robertson device to provide sufficient support. Such multiple devices would define a second frame as broadly claimed.

Re claims 8-9, at least the center conduit 5 would define a rigid connector as broadly claimed.

7. Claims 3-4 and 10 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

8. Claims 14-15 and 24-26 would be allowable if rewritten or amended to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, set forth in this Office action.

9. Claim 18 is allowed.

10. Applicant's arguments with respect to the claims presently rejected in view of the prior art have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection as applied to the modified claim language.

11. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP

§ 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

Art Unit: 3612

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
